Schools face deficit

District figures still tentative

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Venice School District is probably going to run a deficit next year, but Superintendent James Doughty said until several decisions by the Illinois State Board of Education are made regarding nonresident students and state aid, there is no way to predict what that will be.

That includes whether the state will cut aid to the district, force it to repay dis-

With workers pouring concrete Tuesday afternoon and fencing contractors expected early the next day, the Association for the Protection of Animals in Granite City is expected to finish mandated improvements just in time for an inspection Thursday.

The Illinois Department of Agriculture had given the shelter until July 1 to make needed repairs and improvements or face the loss of its license.

Shelter Supervisor Joseph Foster said Tuesday that the shelter expected to be finished by the inspection deadline. "Work is proceeding," he said. "I believe we are going to beat our deadline."

"The big thing that the state mandated was proper drainage, that the kennels be done, a few other things too," he said. "We're getting them done."

At the time, workers were preparing forms and waiting for concrete trucks to arrive. The shelter - one of a few no-kill shelters in the area - runs entirely on donations.

Foster said public response to news of the possible closing of the shelter was impressive. "Since this hit the airwaves and papers, we had more than 500 telephone calls," he said.

Trail grant OK'd

Madison approves island land purchase

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

As expected, the Madison City Council approved having the city sponsor a grant application by Trailnet Inc. for the purchase of land on Chouteau Island.

At Tuesday's meeting, the Council approved allowing Trailnet to seek a $200,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources Open Space Land Acquisition and Development program. The grant must be matched locally - either by money or land. Trailnet has agreed to put up the match, so the grant will not cost the city anything. The grant proposal was submitted to IDNR by today.

In addition, Trailnet is also expected to receive funding for the project from a Shell Oil "settlement fund." That fund is a fine paid by the company that goes toward land acquisition for environmental projects. A formal announcement on how much Trailnet will receive is expected in several weeks.

As envisioned by Trailnet, the preserve would be about 500 acres and include "extensive" mountain biking, hiking,

Courthouse may install teller cages

Circuit Clerk Melucci cites easier, faster service through installing bank-like cashier booths

By Paul Mackie

Lawbreakers, lawyers and other people soon may have an easier time making payments at the Madison County Courthouse.

Circuit Clerk Matt Melucci requested Tuesday that the County Board Buildings Committee consider placing bank-like teller cages in the lobby of the often crowded courthouse.

"It's like a refugee camp set up in the lobby," said Marty Siglock, the county's director of buildings and lands.

"If we do something, we ought to do it right and make it architecturally compatible with the beautiful building we've got," he said.

An auditing firm, KPMG of St. Louis, recently recommended to Melucci that the payment collection and filing procedures should be separated within his office.

"I'd like to have about five or six of my existing employees specialize in the cashier function. They would also be doing other (tasks) on the computers throughout the day," Melucci said.

Although there have been thefts at the office over the years, he said there have been none recently, and he would like to keep it that way. "It would be logical and under the eyes of the courthouse security. I don't think it would create clutter. I think it would create convenience," Melucci said.

Melucci said the teller cages similar to ones at banks would help in at least two ways:

- Benefit the operations of the Circuit Clerk's Office, which is divided into sections by the four doors on the first floor of the Edwardsville courthouse. Payment collectors would be centrally located in the lobby; and

- Provide a better service to people who need to make payments and often have to ask several times before they locate the correct office.

'Patriots in the Park' continues though Sunday

Fairgoers should take precautions with the expected high temps

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

Granite City's "Big Bang" will entertain thousands of people at Wilson Park Sunday. The grandiose, pyrotechnic fireworks display is the fifth largest in the state and will culminate the end of the four-day Patriots in the Park celebration.

The fireworks will surely capture everyone's attention and so will the heat. Weather forecasters are saying that weekend temperatures are expected to be in the mid-to upper-90s, possibly reaching 100 degrees Saturday.

Dr. John Oldham, emergency department physician at Christian Hospital Northeast in St. Louis, said fairgoers should be cautious about the heat.

"We want everyone to have a good time and stay healthy,"

"Everyone should use common sense and take general precautions while they are out all day in the summer heat."

Dr. John Oldham

he said. "That means everyone should use common sense and take general precautions while they are out all day in the summer heat."

Health-related problems include dehydration, heat sickness, sunburns, blisters, sprains and minor cuts and bruises. To prevent them, Oldham offers the following advice:

- Drink plenty of water and remember that alcohol or beverages containing caffeine do not help dehydration and can accelerate it.
- Use sunscreen and wear light or loose-fitting clothes and preferably a brimmed hat to help prevent sun overexposure, heat exhaustion and sunburn.

Letters to the Editor

Strip clubs reason
why taxes are so high

TO THE EDITOR:

The government raises taxes and complains that too many people are on welfare, but do you suppose they will do anything about it?

No.

The simple truth is they don't want to take the time to find out why there isn't enough funding. They don't want to know what is really going on.

Should the state be concerned about illegal activity? No. As long as nobody complains, it isn't their problem.

A dancer in one of the many nightclubs so popular in our area can make $200 to $300 per night. There are no taxes to file. It's paid under the table.

The dancers must tip the other employees in the club. Is this reported income? No.

If someone needs a late-night fix to feed a habit, you can certainly find what you need at a strip club. Are taxes paid on this? No.

Does the state of Illinois worry about the unpaid taxes on thousands of dollars from these clubs? Again, no.

Why do I pay taxes at my regular 40-hour-a-week job? Why do drug dealers go to jail for selling dope when these places are exempt?

Because the state feels it easier to raise the taxes of those that don't complain about it.

I for one, am sick of this. Why isn't this issue addressed by our lawmakers?

Because most of them frequent these places. It brings money to their district or the money is being used to pay the salaries of the local police department. All tax-free!

State money, grants or tax increments should not be paid to these towns. Public funding, my taxes, should not be used for the purpose of allowing others to work without paying taxes.

If enough people make enough complaints, there would be no justification in Gov. Ryan's plans to raise taxes for the many of us who pay our fair share.

Unfortunately, it makes them money, so why bother?

Walgreen's deal
typical Granite City move

TO THE EDITOR:

I knew Granite City Hall had been working for years trying to get a Walgreen's drug store in downtown Granite City, but I didn't know they had to spend all that money to get one here.

Besides, Walgreen's already has a large store in Granite City.

For a good many years, my husband and I bought our medication from Miller Drug Store, a downtown, hometown pharmacist. When this drugstore went out of business, there was no place else to go but Kmart.

Three months ago, I changed over to Medicap Pharmacy because it was run by a hometown young man just starting out in business.

When Al Pelate was asked what he thought about the Walgreen's deal, he answered, "I didn't get any money from the city when I started my business."

I could say my family didn't either.

Doesn't City Hall know that buying property for $700,000 and selling it for $350,000 is poor money management? How much will the seven more parcels cost? How many buildings will have to be torn down? Does City Hall know how much $2.4 million really is? Should money from the general revenue account be used to build a drugstore?

Who knows—City Hall may soon be tearing down the YMCA and building a Wal-Mart there to take some of the load off the other store.

Take a ride around Granite City like I did. Just see where all of that money should have been used to be of better use.

How many communities have a museum that is a National Historic Site? Shouldn't City Hall be helping with this project for the future?

Hoffman really showed good leadership

TO THE EDITOR:

I want to commend State Rep. Jay Hoffmann. I understand that he is the one to thank for all the road projects.

He helped to ensure that construction on Illinois 159 and 157 and Interstates 255 and 64 was included in Gov. Ryan's Illinois First package.

All of these projects are necessities if this area is going to continue to grow.

The pols love Ryan; the voters hate him

Governor's accomplishments may not play well in Voter Land

You may have noticed that Gov. George Ryan has been running TV ads listing his accomplishments during the spring legislative session.

The list is impressive, if not a little exaggerated. That bit about hiring 10,000 new teachers is way off, but Ryan did make a "down payment" on his goal this spring, so there's some truth to it.

As sessions go, Ryan did have a great one. Year after year, a frustrated General Assembly would adjourn for the summer with countless unresolved issues still awaiting action.

Ryan came in this spring and literally cleared the decks. A massive public works project, HMO reform, stronger corporate farm regulations, environmental cleanup, trigger locks for guns and a presidential library for Abraham Lincoln were some of the highlights.

Ryan's list of accomplishments looks even longer in comparison with the run success rate of his immediate predecessor, Jim Edgar. The former governor wasn't the most prodigious bill-passer that ever walked the Statehouse halls.

Edgar was generally sneered at by the Springfield establishment as a guy who couldn't pass the big one. But he was genuinely liked by the public. In contrast, Gov. Ryan is almost universally adored at the Statehouse. But popularity under the dome doesn't necessarily translate into popularity in Voter Land. The Statehouse has a different value system than Voter Land.

Statehouse types place a high value on working well with others to achieve progress. But voters would often like to see their government almost paralyzed or at least out of the way—which is a big reason why they split their tickets so much.

Enacting lots of governmental programs all at once can overwhelm the public, which tends to believe that the government can hardly do one thing right at a time, let alone a whole bunch of stuff. George Ryan may be a godlike political being in Springfield right now, but he is just the leader of state government to everyone else.

And people just don't trust the government, especially when the head guy is cheerfully building a mountain of friendly new government programs and regulations and adding insult to injury by raising taxes after solemnly promising not to.

For Springfield insiders, it's easy to look at the results of the spring session and say, hey, the new tax and fee increases are paltry, most of the new laws were crafted by an extraordinary consensus of groups and individuals that in one way or another, represent almost everyone, and a lot of truly needed and overdue legislation was passed.

But outsiders can only see more government and higher taxes.

The media has helped feed this perception by repeatedly recycling the same half-dozen examples of silly pork projects to broadbrush Ryan's entire $12 billion infrastructure program. Talk radio, that hotbed of rational discussion, focuses like a laser on the tax hikes and the pork.

Harshly anti-tax, anti-pork letters to the editor continue to flood newspapers from Zion to Cairo. Recent Democratic polling shows widespread discontent. It's not a good time to be George Ryan.

A governor like Jim Edgar, who attempts little during a period of prosperity, will make few waves, and the mostly disinterested and disengaged electorate will interpret that lack of controversy (during our hyper-controversial age) to imply a job well done.

A governor who takes big steps runs the risk of frightening that same populace with too much government-sponsored controversy.

In the long term, when the public figures out that the tax and fee hikes are not all that high, and when the newly passed laws don't impact their lives in a negative way, everything will settle down. The anger should all wear off by 2002, when Ryan will decide whether to run for re-election.

Meanwhile, the members of the General Assembly who voted for all those new taxes and government programs will have to face the voters next year.

Nationally, voters felt threatened by Bill Clinton's 1993 tax hikes and his way too expensive and bureaucratic 1994 health care proposal and they retaliated by dumping the Democratic Congress in the fall of 1994. State legislators who stuck with Ryan may be understandably queasy these days.

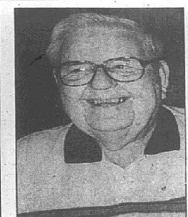

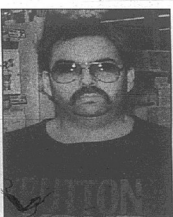

For right now, Ryan's smile-faced television ads may have the opposite effect. The legislature is the group most impressed by progress.

The general public probably doesn't believe a word of it.

Do you think Granite City can support another Walgreen's? Why or why not?

"No, I don't think so. Granite City only has 38,000 people, and Madison and Venice are also small. It would be like building another Wal-Mart. I also think the tax break the city gave them is wrong when our small businesses didn't get them."

James Faulkner, 69

"I really don't see what it could hurt. It will be close for the people in that area in that they won't have to come to this end of town to shop."

John Ferguson, 33

"I don't believe we need another Walgreen's in Granite City. We have two independent drug stores in town now that didn't get any help with the business. They bought and paid for everything they have. Walgreen's is a big company and can build and buy their own. They sure don't need help from Granite City."

"I think Granite City can support another store. It's better than a vacant lot; there's no revenue in a vacant lot."

Plans for non-resident students are still up in air

Venice board meets for two hours on subject

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

While plans to deal with more than 173 non-resident students in the Venice School District are being made, nothing has been finalized as of a special Venice School Board meeting Tuesday.

VENICE

The board met in executive session for about two hours, but no action was taken.

Non-resident students have three choices — they must either move into the district, register and attend in their own district or pay a non-resident tuition.

A list of non-resident students showed most came from the Madison School District, with some others from Brooklyn, East St. Louis, Granite City, Washington Park and St. Louis.

The district is facing the possibility of paying the state more than $1.1 million in disallowed state aid and the loss of additional aid in the coming school year because of the non-resident students.

An audit by the Illinois State Board of Education showed about 134 non-resident students attending the district, while Superintendent James Doughty said other students discovered brings the total to at least 173.

The district has a total enrollment of about 430.

A draft copy of a letter to be sent to the parents of the students said those non-resident students would not be allowed to register for the coming school year, but that there will be a series of "due process" hearings to determine if some students were incorrectly listed as non-resident or have moved into the district.

According to a timetable submitted by Doughty to the board, those hearings would be held July 12-14.

However, the letter, hearings or timetable have not been approved by the board.

Another option would be for the parents or guardians of a student to pay a non-resident tuition.

Doughty said the district has not determined exactly what that would be; he said there is also the possibility that the ISBE could grant a waiver reducing the tuition rate.

He said it has been done in the past and the district was preparing to request a waiver.

As part of the timetable for dealing with the non-resident issue, elementary and high school classes would be "reformulated" and new teaching assignments would be confirmed by July 30.

Other important dates in the schedule include hiring new staff by Aug. 12; and assigning students to buses, reassigning classrooms and sending letters to all parents by Aug. 13.

lowed state aid for previous years and allow a waiver for non-resident tuition for the coming year.

No action was taken at a special meeting of the School Board Tuesday. Most of the meeting was held in executive session.

While major problems with non-resident students could create a major loss of state aid and force the district to repay up to $1.1 million, the district's tentative budget is expected to rise by about $200,000 for the coming year.

Documents given to board members and the press at the meeting Tuesday showed expected expenditures of $3,947,240 for the 1999-2000 fiscal year, which begins today, July 1.

That is compared to a $3.5 million budget for the 1997-98 school year and $3.7 million for the 1998-99 school year.

However, district income could range from about $3.2 million to $3.97 million, depending on what the ISBE does.

Doughty said the figures were very tentative and meant for discussion and setting priorities. He added that the district's official budget is expected to be presented at the regular meeting July 8.

Figures include three potential income scenarios. The first is the same as the previous year's budget, except for the loss of property tax revenue from the reassessment of the AmerenUE power plant.

The district is losing about $150,000 in tax revenue because of the reassessment, but will pick up $133,000 in a special appropriation from the state legislature.

That would give the district an income of $3.97 million, a slight surplus.

The second scenario reflects about a $220,000 drop in general state aid because of non-resident students and would provide $3.6 million in revenue, leaving the district about $300,000 in the red.

The "worst-case" scenario includes the reduction in state aid plus repayment of the $1 million over a three-year period.

That would give the district $3.26 million in revenue and a projected deficit of slightly less than $700,000.

Almost all of the potential budget changes in the three scenarios would be in the Education Fund, which pays for most of the district's day-to-day expenses.

One of the reasons the district may not be able to cut expenses is that teachers cannot be laid-off for the coming year without being given reduction in force notices at least 60 days prior to the end of the previous year.

About 10 teachers were given RIF notices, but according to Venice Federation of Teachers Local 965 President Kevin Baker, most of those notices were sent to teachers at the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

Baker said the union has also notified the district that it is challenging the RIF notices because of questions about procedure and seniority.

The possibility of decreased enrollment in the elementary, junior high and high schools is not expected to affect VLTC.

Another concern is that some teachers would have to be hired in the high school because other teachers within the district could not be reassigned to cover other classes.

While elementary school teachers can teach all areas in their grades, junior, middle and high school teachers are certified in specialty areas, such as math or science.

them all over the (various) offices," Melucci said.

The Circuit Clerk's Office has a high volume of walk-in payees. There were 87,000 cases filed in 1998, many of which created subsequent payments at the courthouse.

Other than criminal bond money and filing fees for civil cases, the Circuit Clerk's Office collects payments for items such as passports, child support case-relocation fees and entry-of-appearance fees for both Madison and Bond counties.

The Buildings Committee did not vote on the request, but Siglock told Melucci he could draft some plans to present by late July.

Melucci said he would like to have a new payment system set up by the beginning of the county government's next fiscal year on Dec. 1.

equestrian and cross-country ski trails.

The preserve would be adjacent to the Old Chain of Rocks Bridge.

The land would be purchased from private owners including Waste Management Inc., which operates the Chain of Rocks Landfill — and would include some of the land owned by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

As part of the agreement

The land purchased approved by the Madison City Council would help develop Chouteau Island as a recreational area and as part of a trail that would encompass both sides of the Mississippi.

between the city and Trainnet, the land would eventually be annexed into Madison if it was not already.

In addition, eventually all of the federal land on the island is expected to be annexed into the city.

Mayor John Hamm said that would probably take about a year because Congressional approval must be given.

City officials have said that they want to see the island developed as a recreational facility.

Wilson Park Pool is the coolest place in Granite City during the summer.

More than 23,000 people swim and sunbathe there from Memorial Day to Labor Day, according to Granite City Park District Director Dave Polivick.

But other than the pool, how does the rest of the population entertain themselves during June, July and August?

Ryan Armes, 19, spends at least three evenings at Wilson Park shooting jump shots and playing one-on-one with friends.

"You can break a sweat and have some fun with basketball," Armes said. "The hotter it is, the more I like to play."

Nicole Gaudreault, 16, and Kristin McKinney, 17, were a hop, skip and jump away from enjoying a game of tennis. Gaudreault said she smacks the balls around at least twice a week.

"It's a good game to play with my friends," Gaudreault said. "Six Flags and camping are other activities that are on my summer fun list."

McKinney, on the other hand, said she likes to go with her family to take.

"It's neat, especially in the summer," McKinney said. "It's like a have, my own big swimming pool."

Not everyone in Granite aspires to athletics when the sun is beating down.

Repairs to shelter finished

Shelter officials said they needed about $15,000 to make needed repairs. The shelter has received a steady flow of donations, but Foster was unsure how much had been collected.

In addition to the state-mandated repairs, he said, the shelter had a number of other projects to do, such as finishing office space, which will take more time.

"We're going to get the state-mandated repairs by July 1," he said.

The shelter is located at 5000 Old Alton Road. As of Tuesday, it had about 60 cats and kittens and 60 dogs.

ROSE (WILLIAMS) DOWDY, 80, died at 5:15 a.m. Tuesday, June 29, 1999, at St. Ann's Nursing Home in Chester. Mrs. Dowdy was a resident of Granite City for 45 years.

She was born May 1, 1919 in Gratton, Mo. She was retired from St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, where she worked as an operating room technician for 28 years. She was a member of VFW Post 1300 Auxiliary in Granite City and AMVETS Auxiliary Post 10 in Littlefield.

Recently, Fort Worth, Texas-based Eagle One Aviation Inc. LLC, an aircraft modification company, was converting Boeing 737 passenger jetliners into cargo carriers, announcing tentative plans to land at St. Louis Regional Airport in Beltho and bring 360 jobs to the area in August.

When he heard the news, Bivens said he became optimistic for himself and others. But he said it is important for him and those who have been laid off to keep their feet firmly planted on the ground.

"It would be a dream come true for a lot of us local people," he said. "I look forward to that opportunity, but you can't just wait for one thing to come into fruition."

Bivens said he remembers other times when people around him were laid off at the St. Louis plant in years past, dating to when the plant was owned by McDonnell Douglas Corp.

He said watching them leave and knowing they weren't coming back soon was difficult.

Stolen check forger picks wrong day, bank and teller

Maine woman arrested on burglary charges

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

Hamel banker Craig Potthast knows his grandmother, and the woman at his teller window definitely wasn't her.

So when the woman produced a $250 check allegedly written by his grandmother, he called the obvious person: "Grandma."

"He asked me if I knew this woman," Irene Gorenz recalled Tuesday. "I said, 'no.'"

Within minutes, a second telephone call had police on the way to the bank.

The tale began sometime between 8:10 and 11 a.m. Friday, when Stacy M. Gorenz, 24, of Bath, Maine, allegedly burglarized Gorenz's home in the 10000 block of Gorenz Road in Albion.

Garrison then drove to Hamel State Bank at 105

East State Route 140, where she went to Potthast's teller window about 11:45 a.m. and attempted to cash a check.

Gorenz said the woman had dated the check from two days earlier and claimed it was payment for window sales.

Gorenz told her grandson that she didn't know Garrison and hadn't ordered windows.

Detective Leonard Suhre of the Madison County Sheriff's Department and other authorities arrived at the bank within minutes to take the woman into custody.

More of Gorenz's checks were found in a Ford truck outside the bank. The truck later was determined to have been stolen by Garrison in Missouri.

She was charged with possession of a stolen vehicle on Tuesday, after being charged with burglary and forgery on Monday, Suhre said.

A sheriff's report indicated that Potthast asked for identification from Garrison and excused himself from the teller window to make the telephone calls.

Gorenz said her grandson contacted her at the home of her daughter, where she had gone to visit that morning. Garrison apparently gained entry through a door that had been left unlocked by mistake, Gorenz said.

The checkbook was a spare that Gorenz said she wouldn't have noticed missing for weeks. It was taken from a bedroom drawer.

"Not one thing was moved in this house," she said.

There was no immediate indication of why Garrison picked Gorenz's home, although Gorenz said a nearby yard sale might have brought the suspect to the area.

Updated resumes, emergency funds go long way

Area employees hit hard by the Boeing Co. layoffs might find solace closer to home in August.

Until last month, Bivens of Bethalto was one of more than 2,400 people from the area employed at Boeing.

Bivens, who had been with Boeing since 1985, went under with the first wave of job cuts at the St. Louis aviation plant.

"It was no surprise," he said. "It's the trend of the industry."

Bivens keeps an updated resume ready at all times and said he sets aside money to prepare for just such an occasion, being laid off for a time in 1992 made him painfully aware of the need to tuck some money away and plan for the future.

"I've learned all too well that there's no such thing as a job forever," Bivens said. "Those days are gone."

"But I'm quite confident that something will turn up. When you've been around the block a time or two, you realize God has a plan for all of us — he just guides us through. But you have to participate in the process."

In one recent case, the defendant decided to reenter the cleaning business in the City of Aurora, Illinois for $30,000.00. As part of the contract for the job, the defendant agreed not to compete in any similar business in a ten-mile radius of the City of Aurora for a period of not less than five years. The plaintiffs in this case continued to operate the carpet cleaning business under the former name of Steam-Power.

One year later, the defendant decided to reenter the cleaning business. He advertised in the Aurora newspaper and contacted Steam-Power's former customers.

Many of the defendant's former customers switched back to him. Apparently the business practices of the new owners had slipped, and they were overbidding customers and not returning phone calls.

The new owners of the business went to court to seek an injunction to prohibit the defendant from reentering the business community. The trial court ruled that the new owners were not entitled to an injunction since they could go to court and seek dollar damages if they had sustained a loss. Furthermore, the trial court held that the plaintiffs had not proved that they would sustain an "irreparable injury" if the injunction were not entered. This ruling by the trial court allowed the former business owner to continue in business.

The plaintiffs appealed the decision, and the Appellate Court ruled that the trial court's decision was incorrect. The Appellate Court decided that it would be impossible for the new business owners to show lost profits arising from potential sales in the future, and therefore, money damages would never be an adequate remedy for them. The Appellate Court noted there was a loss of customers and sales, and the threat of the continuation of such losses, and thus the plaintiffs would suffer irreparable injury. The Appellate Court then ruled that the purchasers of the carpet cleaning business were entitled to a permanent injunction, prohibiting the seller from business from violating the non-competition clause in the sales contract.

Edwardsville blanks Tri City Post 113

Three pitchers team up on five-hitter; Mayes victimized by early rally

By Louie Korac
Staff writer

The Edwardsville American Legion team usually needs an inning or two to get the bats warm.

But on Tuesday night against Tri City Post 113, Edwardsville used a first-inning rally to spark a 4-0 victory in District 22 action at the Edwardsville Sports Complex.

Edwardsville scored three runs in the first inning against Tri City starter Devin Mayes and added another in the second while the strong pitching effort from Brett Zika, Chris Johnson and Brett Zoelzer shut down Post 113 on five hits.

Post 113 (11-2, 5-0) was fortunate to jump on Mayes early. After Todd Spitzer's one-out double in the second inning, Mayes retired 13 of the final 14 Edwardsville batters.

Zika (3-0) matched Mayes in his five innings of work — allowing four hits, one walk and five strikeouts.

"My curveball finally came around," Zika said. "My first two starts, I hadn't really thrown my curveball quite as well as I had been during the (high school) varsity year. My fastball was doing a little better tonight, too."

Post 119 got rolling in the bottom of the first as Andrew Honegger drew a one-out walk and then Matt Bogle lofted a pop fly down the right

"I told them (the Edwardsville players) after the game that he pitched a fine game. He had a little problem with his location early in the game. He got a pitch up to Riggs and he put it over the fence; made a good pitch to Seibert, but he lined it out there; and a couple breaks where we've had them go the other way too."

Millas provides punch for Tri City

Outfielder carries .435 average early in American Legion season

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Teddy Millas is trying to put the swat into the Tri City American Legion Post 113 offense this summer.

Teddy is a great hitter," Tri-City Legion coach Chad Lignoul said. "I think he fits definitely into the top 10, maybe the top five hitters in the high school area or Legion, which is a little bit bigger. I really believe that you will see him be one of the leading hitters in the area the whole summer."

Early in the American Legion season, Millas is hitting .435 with five runs scored, three doubles, and five RBI. He finished the high school season batting .397 with four doubles, two home runs, 13 runs scored and 13 RBI. "I hope that continues from the high-school season into the summer," Millas said. "But right now, I'm not doing that. I'm not hitting the ball as well as I was in high school, so I just have to get back on top of it. I have a bunch of stuff going on. I work and have a lot of other personal things going on, so it's hard."

Millas continues to work on the basic fundamentals to improve his bat speed.

"I just practice to get a quicker swing," Millas said. "I just work on the hands, get my hands quicker, that's all I do, really."

Millas wants to help Post 113 put together a better campaign than Granite City High School's 12-21 spring season. "I just want to make our whole team better," Millas said. "I just want to hit, field, make no errors and no mistakes, drive in runs. I just want to help our team out so we can win as many games as possible."

His impact for Tri City is more than offensive.

"I think he is a good quality outfielder," Lignoul said. "I think he is a great kid. I think he is probably the biggest key to our team. He is the lynchpin in the order. If Teddy isn't hitting at all, then we may have problems. But I don't think so, I think other guys would step up. Even so, I think Teddy kind of keys everything for us hitting."

The recent Granite City graduate wants to turn this summer into a launching pad for collegiate possibilities in the future.

"I'm hoping to go to school somewhere and play," Millas said. "I have a couple of schools I am talking to, so hopefully I can go away to one of those places and keep playing."

Teddy Millas is hitting .435 so far for Tri City Legion after hitting .397 in the high school season for Granite City.

Collinsville splits Sunday twinbill

Post 365 moves to 10-4 after meeting Stewardson-Strasburg

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Collinsville American Legion Post 365 used three home runs to pull off doubleheader split with Stewardson-Strasburg on Sunday.

Post 365 won the opening game 11-2 and lost the nightcap 4-0. Both games were nine inning contests.

Justin Volkmar, Wayne Astrauskas and Justin Clayton hit home runs for Collinsville in its victory.

In that game, Post 365 (10-4) scored three runs in the fifth inning and five runs in the eighth.

Volkmar led the team with three RBI, while Astrauskas and Clayton each had three hits and drove in two runs.

Justin Hefflin pitched seven innings to pick up the victory and improve to 4-0 for the summer. Hefflin, who is among the District 22 pitching leaders in wins and ERA (2.63), scattered six hits and gave up just one earned run. He struck out five.

In the nightcap, four errors doomed Post 365 in its 4-0 loss. Luc Joshi took the loss for Post 365, but all four of the runs he gave up were unearned.

Post 365 was scheduled to open play in the 30-team Metro East Tournament of Champions this morning and will host one of the six pools at Fletcher Field today and Friday.

Collinsville plays Columbia this morning, Champaign this evening and then Manchester (Mo.) and Perryville (Mo.) on Friday.

Alton's Gordon Moore Park, Fairview Heights' Longacre Park, the Highland VFW, O'Fallon's Blazer Field and Trenton City Park are other host sites for the event, which includes Alton.

Edwardsville, Fairview Heights, Highland, Centralia, Duplo, O'Fallon, Troy, Trenton, Cahokia, Worden, Bloomington, Stewardson-Strasburg, Morrisville, Oglesby, St. Peter, Farmer City, Chatham, Marion, Anchor, Portage, St. Peters (Mo.), St. Louis County Thomas Boothe and Blytheville (Ark.).

Collinsville's Lutz enjoys first days in professional baseball

Reds pitching prospect has made two successful starts in Florida

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Kenny Lutz is a long way from major league baseball, but the 1999 Collinsville High School graduate is enjoying his first taste of professional baseball in Sarasota, Fla. Lutz, a fourth-round selection of the Cincinnati Reds in the 1999 First-Year Player Draft, made his second pro start Tuesday as a pitcher for the Reds' minor league affiliate in the Gulf Coast League.

"I've been doing pretty good so far," said Lutz. "It's everything I expected pro baseball to be. Everybody can hit and everybody can throw."

With the two starts under his belt, Lutz has gained confidence that he belongs.

Lutz, limited to a pitch count that has kept him from going the five innings needed in either outing to earn a victory, has pitched seven innings and allowed just one earned run. He has given up four hits and struck out six. His 1.29 ERA is third best on the team.

Lutz's first start was a night game at Smith Stadium, a night he will never forget because of the 300-plus fans in the stands.

In his second start Tuesday, he worked four innings, allowed just one hit and struck out five.

"The big thing up here is to get the ball down. If you keep the ball down, you will be OK," said Lutz, who wears No. 77.

Lutz has been working on a change-up to go with his fastball, cut fastball and slider.

"I asked some of the other guys how to throw a change-up," Lutz said. "I took a little from each one and did the one that felt best for me."

Lutz would like to add a breaking ball to complement his fastball, which hits 89 to 91 mph.

As for the life of a minor-leaguer, Lutz said the meal allowance isn't much. However, he said the motel housing the players has a buffet for breakfast and dinner.

"I think I gained 10 pounds," he said. "I need to cut back."

Lutz found the routine for pitchers to be boring between starts.

"The workouts are pretty easy; well, I shouldn't say easy," he said. "We get to the field every day at 8 a.m. We throw on the side, we run and we lift two days a week. We have games everyday except Sunday. The pitchers have it pretty easy."

Among the other highlights for Lutz in addition to his two starts was

"I asked some of the other guys how to throw a change-up. I took a little from each one and did the one that felt best for me."

Kenny Lutz
Reds minor league pitcher meeting Reds pitcher Denny Neagle, who was in Sarasota on a rehabilitation assignment.

"He took us all out to dinner one night," Lutz said. "He was real funny, telling us stories. Everybody has been real friendly."

FEUD OF THE WEEK

Chad Little vs. NASCAR

The starters at the end of the field at Sears Point used a makeshift pit area, dubbed "Gilligan's Island" because it was in the middle of the horseshoe created by turn 1. To prevent them from gaining an advantage, NASCAR assessed a penalty to each car in this area on every stop. "I don't think that's fair," said Little. "We lost a minimum of three spots every single pit stop, guys that I worked hard out there to pass."

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "If Little hadn't had to take a provisional starting spot to make the field, he wouldn't have had to deal with it."

PROFILE

Jerry Nadeau

Jerry Nadeau has participated in the Winston Cup series since 1997.

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week

Jerry Nadeau received relatively little attention when he arrived in the Winston Cup Series in 1997, but he has quietly earned respect for himself and his race team.

What Nadeau hopes to achieve is a rebirth in the fortunes of Melling Racing. Founded by the late Harry Melling, the team won a championship with Bill Elliott as driver in 1988. The team's most recent victory came with Elliott behind the wheel in 1991.

Nadeau is unique among Winston Cup drivers in that he spent part of his career racing in Europe.

AGE: 28
HOMETOWN: Born and raised in Danbury, Conn., lives in Alpharetta, Ga.
MARITAL STATUS: Single
CAR: No. 9 Cartoon Network Ford Taurus, owned by Melling Racing

RECORD: 49 starts, 0 wins, 0 poles, 0 top-five finishes, 1 top-10, more than $1.5 million in career earnings

FIRSTS: Start (June 15, 1997, at Michigan), pole (none), win (none)

WHAT'S YOUR FAVORITE TRACK? "Michigan is a good race track, the speeds are high. There's not really a lot of attrition there and that's really good, but I like the short tracks and road racing too. I like everywhere we go, so that makes it fun to go out there."

WHAT DOES IT TAKE TO WIN? "Before you can win, you need to get top-10 finishes and then top-five finishes. We've got a good race car. We're making progress. If everything goes well and we have good pit stops, I can stay out of trouble, the potential is there for a good finish almost everywhere we go."

HOW HAS HARRY MELLING'S DEATH AFFECTED THE TEAM? "I think everybody's upset. Mark, Matt (Melling), the whole family is very upset. Harry is watching us right now, so I think we've got that going for us."

Who's Hot... Who's Not

■ HOT: Dale Jarrett, 13 straight top-10 finishes.

■ NOT: Derrick Cole and David Green, still no top-15 finishes.

Trackside Trivia

1. Name the Indiana car builder for whom Jeff Gordon, Tony Stewart and Kenny Irwin all drove during their USAC days.
2. What was unique about the now-defunct short track in Langhorne, Pa.?
3. What was Tiny Lund's actual first name?

ANSWERS

1. Bob East; 2. It was a circle with no straights; 3. DelWayne

Letters From Our Readers

Dear NASCAR This Week,

Why is it that Winston Cup drivers do not drive on Mother's Day, but they drive on Father's Day? In my book, both holidays are equally important.

Heidi Allen
 Bennington, Vt.

Importance has nothing to do with it. Historically, races have not drawn well on Mother's Day.

Dear NASCAR This Week,

Could you please tell me why Benny Parsons and the other announcers with him must say Mark Martin's name so often?

Ruth Britton
 Apopka, Fla.

Oh, I don't know, maybe because he is one of the sport's biggest stars?

Dear NASCAR This Week,

I am T1 in July and enjoy watching NASCAR on Eurosport TV. My daughter and son-in-law in Midway, Ga., send me your news page every week.

P.E. Booth
 Suffolk, England

The fact that you read Four page in England we find absolutely smashing.

Dear NASCAR This Week,

What happened to Greg Sacks?

Dorothy Kihn
 Centralia, Wash.

Sacks has been on the mend from severe injuries received in a racing accident. He is apparently fit again and planning a return in the near future.

There's two ways to look at commodity markets

There are two ways analysts look at the commodity markets: fundamental and technical analysis. These two methods of analysis can result in somewhat different conclusions about price and market direction.

Fundamental analysis uses supply and demand information. Fundamental information includes ending stocks, export sales, domestic demand, expected and actual production along with many other factors.

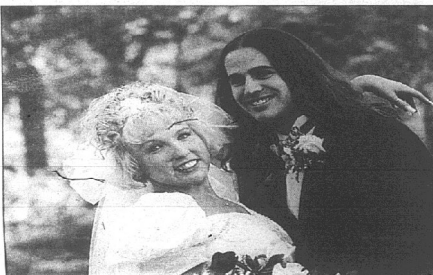

The main idea behind fundamental analysis is that supply and demand determines the price of the product. Any news or information that changes supply and demand factors will cause a change in price.

Technical analysts look at price history and price action. Technical analysts believe that all fundamentals along with the psychological and political factors are reflected in the price action of the market.

Some contend that price action anticipates the fundamentals and reacts before the actual fundamental news is well known. They also believe markets follow history.

St. Louis hospital provides new-style cancer therapy

By Donald Scales
Staff writer

Until recently, surgery or radiation treatments were the two standard ways to treat prostate cancer. Now doctors have another method.

Since March, doctors at BJC Christian Hospital Northeast have provided the Brachy Therapy for prostate cancer patients.

It is a same-day surgical procedure which plants radioactive seeds the size of rice grains permanently into the prostate. Doctors said the radioactivity in the seeds is expected to kill off the cancer.

"The goal is to catch the disease early enough so men can be treated with the implanted seeds alone," said Dr. Jim Piephoff, medical director of the hospital's radiation oncology program.

Piephoff said his duties are to determine how many radioactive seeds should be put into someone's body and where they should go.

He said each seed that a patient gets depends on the size of the prostate. He also said patients are able to return home on the same day of the surgery.

Piephoff said Christian Northeast is the only hospital in North County that does the hour-long implant procedure. He said the procedure can be done only if the patient is in the early stages of the cancer. He said it cannot be done if the cancer has spread dramatically. He said the hospital performed the procedure for the first time April 12.

He said three Christian Northeast patients had the surgery so far. He also said 10 people are awaiting it. Two of the patients had good things to say about implant surgery.

George Jakel of Ferguson had the surgery performed by a Northeast doctor in October at another hospital.

Motorcade celebrates designation

Great Rivers Scenic Byway for Great River Road becomes official

By Bethany Behrhorst
Staff writer

More than 100 classic cars and convertibles joined in a motorcade along the Meeting of the Great Rivers National Scenic Byway in honor of its official designation ceremonies Saturday morning.

Dignitaries, city leaders, public servants and citizens gathered in Alton to celebrate the designation of a 50-mile stretch of the Great River Road as a National Scenic Byway, which took nearly seven years to materialize.

The festivities began at 9 a.m. with two ceremonies: one at the Melvin Price Locks and Dam in Alton and another in Kampsville. Two more ceremonies were held at 10:30 a.m. in Eldred and at the new Grafton Visitors Center along the Great River Road, with the culmination of activities taking place at Pere Marquette State Park.

"We have a treasure here in the River Bend," said U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville. "This is a national treasure."

"I'm very pleased to be here on this special day."

The federal byway designation pumps $1 million into the River Bend to pay for rest areas, safety road shoulders and interpretive centers. The authorization for the byway program was given in 1991 through the Transportation Efficiency Act, which Costello helped write in Congress.

"I'm happy to be part of this ceremony, and I'm going to continue to do everything I can to work in this area," he said. "I had it in mind back in 1991 that if there were a designation, it should be here."

Costello praised the determination of city leaders, officials and citizens, which he said made the designation possible. He singled out Annie Hoagland with the Great Rivers Land Trust.

"No one calls me more than Annie Hoagland," he said.

"Without her dedication, we would not be here today."

Costello expressed the Holiday will offer plenty of fireworks

'Patriots In The Park' celebration here

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff writer

How do you plan to celebrate this year's Big Birthday Bash? For our country, that is:

Many communities in the Metro East are planning big fireworks displays for the final Independence Day Celebration of the century. Whenever your family plans to get together, a pyrotechnic show should be somewhere near.

Of course Fair Saint Louis, Saturday through Monday, will have fireworks at 9:40 each night. But for those wanting something closer to home and with smaller crowds, city governments and civic groups are planning heaps of hometown fun.

Following is a rundown on some of those:

— BELLEVILLE: The Parks and Recreation Department and St. Matthews United Methodist Church co-sponsor a festival Sunday, July 4, beginning at 5 p.m. on the main campus of Belleville Area College. There will be musical entertainment and refreshments available, and then fireworks at dusk.

— CASEYVILLE: The town celebrates its 150th birthday this year with a weekend of fun July 3 and 4. The fireworks will conclude the party on Sunday night at 9 p.m.

Caseyville's celebration kicks off with parachutists unfurling "Old Glory" as they dive into Village Park at noon Saturday. Food, carnival rides, craft shows and music will be featured. There will also be line dancing, a cowboy poet, helicopter rides and car shows.

— COLLINSVILLE: The Collinsville Jaycees will host that town's party July 2 through July 4, at the Collinsville Jaycees Sports Complex. Carnival rides and DJs will entertain at this family-oriented event, and food and games will also be available. The fireworks display will begin Sunday night at dusk.

The Jaycees have hosted Collinsville's 4th of July celebration for more than 20 years.

— GRANITE CITY: "Patriots In The Park" is the title of Granite City's Independence Day celebration this year. The event at Wilson Park will include carnival rides, carriage rides, mud-volleyball tournaments, pony rides and a Ferris Wheel.

The fireworks will be at 9:15 p.m. Sunday and will be accompanied by a computerized musical presentation. Last year Granite City had the fifth-largest fireworks display in Illinois.

The city's celebrations will also include a Patriotic Display Contest for homes, businesses and neighborhoods, and an essay contest. Also, all churches in the city are being asked to toll their church bells at noon on Sunday.

Officials of the Illinois State Police Department are encouraging everyone to play it safe during the July 4th holiday weekend. Personal use of fireworks is restricted in the state of Illinois.

A good rule of thumb is: The popular sparklers, snakes and smoke bombs are permissible in Illinois. Firecrackers, bottle rockets, basically things that explode, are not legal.

Trooper Ralph Timmons said that extra officers will be on duty during the weekend to keep things running smoothly, especially on the approaches to the Poplar Street Bridge.

"We'll have a special detail on duty to prevent crashes," Timmons said. He said in the past there have been problems with people wanting to use the bridge and its approaches as viewing areas for the air shows and fireworks at Fair St. Louis.

"We've actually had people stop in the right lane of the Poplar Street Bridge and get out with lawn chairs to watch," he said. "That bridge is too big a project to shut down."

Timmons said that any state-supported roadway within two miles of the Mississippi River is an immediate tow-away zone, meaning that state troopers can have vehicles towed, even if the owner is still with the car.

"We've actually had people stop in the right lane of the Poplar Street Bridge and get out with lawn chairs to watch. That bridge is too big a project to shut down."

Ralph Timmons
State trooper

"They'll just get to ride along in the tow truck," Timmons said.

If Illinois residents want to view the St. Louis air shows and fireworks, Timmons suggests going early and taking alternate routes to Missouri. Those who want to stay on the Illinois side of the river should look for a well-lit, protected area to park at, he said.

Timmons warned that the gravel area of the Martin Luther King Bridge is not a safe place to consider.

"It's also an unauthorized stop area. Plus, if they go too far off, they'll sink," he said.

Fireworks nothing to play carelessly with

Summer is a great time to have family picnics, spend hot days poolside and share happy moments with friends and family.

It's not the time you want to spend in the hospital from a fireworks injury. Fireworks send thousands of people to the hospital each year and nearly all of those injuries could be prevented by leaving fireworks in the hands of professionals.

According to the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the National Association of State Fire Marshals, approximately 7,000 fireworks-related injuries occur each year in the U.S., while nearly 2,000 of these are eye injuries resulting in permanent eye damage or the removal of the eye.

Though many may suffer the loss of sight, others may also experience permanent hearing loss, suffer from second and third degree burns, or even amputation. These are very serious injuries that are excruciatingly painful and will scar for life.

"Fireworks are not toys for children or adults to play with," says State Fire Marshal Thomas L. Armstead. "The burns from fireworks can be intense, and they can scar for life. Fireworks can cause injuries other than burns by exploding and maiming the hands, body or eyes."

Fireworks are illegal without a permit in Illinois. OSFM urges everyone to attend professional pyrotechnic displays where the whole family can enjoy them at a safe distance.

The National Fire Protection Association estimated that roughly 7,600 people across the country suffered injuries from fireworks serious enough to require a visit to the hospital emergency room in 1998.

Buffett keeps rolling along in 'Margaritaville'

This is no "Tears of a Clown" scenario — not by a long shot — but the musician whom Jimmy Buffett sees in the mirror has no party hat.

The Alabama native and patron saint of Key West has carved out a remarkably lucrative career singing tropical-inflected folk songs in sold-out arenas to people who, when they close their eyes, pretend they're at the beach. Yet Buffett is a product of the original sensitive singer-songwriter era in the 1970s, and that's still the work to which he's drawn.

Songs were written then to make people think and feel — not laugh, at least not intentionally. His most recent album, "Beach House on the Moon," illustrates how he tries to satisfy his fans and his muse.

It features some of the comical songs his fans, known as "parrot heads," have come to expect: "Math Suks," a paean to the arithmetically challenged by someone plainly deficient in spelling, and "I Will Play for Gumbo." The more serious material, like the Bruce Cockburn-penned "Pacing the Cage" and the title cut, is where he really sinks his teeth in.

"The records are my avenue to go out and do the things I really like, which are ballads,

(and) to sing things that might not necessarily get the crowd in an uproar at the show," he said. "The magic that goes on in the studio is still the most gratifying part."

Buffett was as surprised as anyone by the "parrot head" phenomenon. During the 1980s, when he was a decade removed from "Margaritaville" and "Cheesburger in Paradise," he seemed ready to sink toward the obscurity that claims most artists when the hits stop.

He continued to tour, however, and the audiences kept getting bigger. They came for a good time, the chance to escape to the beach house in their minds. A Buffett concert has its rituals, its funny hats, its sing-alongs and, most important, a sense of humor.

"The fact that I've been able to negotiate this with the help of a loyal fan base, to be 52 and not be a dinosaur, is a treat," he said. "Because the attrition rate is, to say the least, heavy. I've never been able to either dissect my music or dissect why people come to the show. I'm just glad they do."

His tours are among the year's biggest moneymakers, and he has built that into a small empire. He owns restaurants, sells merchandise like margarita mixes and writes books as well as songs. He is one of only six writers to top The New York Times best-sellers list for fiction and nonfiction.

With all of this, his music often gets overlooked. But Buffett's not one to complain, just as he knows it's part of his job to play

"Margaritaville" every night. "If I chose a song list of Jimmy Buffett material that I'd like to do in a show, they'd probably start throwing tomatoes by the third song," he said. "It would certainly tend to be more of the reflective stuff that I've done and that I like personally."

He and his band, the Coral Reefers, have a rule: "Seventy percent of the show I call songs you have to do or be killed, and you have 30 percent left to work with. That's enough."

So don't look for any "unplugged" tour of weepy material.

Buffett's new album is the last in a contract with Island Records, leaving him a free agent. "I have a plan," he said. "Something tells me there's a dot-com in it."

He's not certain whether that means selling his music solely through the Internet, or just in part. At a time of flux in the music industry, he has the time and luxury to do pretty much what he wants.

Buffett has created his own Internet radio station, hiring some of the people who worked in radio when he was getting started in the business.

"There was a connection, a link between the disc jockeys and the artists," he said. "I could name the old stations that I used to go into — you hung out with DJs, you talked music. These days, that's a rarity. "Those DJs still exist, but they can't find work in what has evolved into the corporate umbrella of radio," he said. "So I've kind of located a few of my old friends who are great programmers and musicologists and said, 'Do shows for me.'"

Three years after he crashed his plane into Nantucket Harbor and nearly died, Buffett is still getting into the cockpit.

"It changed my life a lot in the fact that I lived through it," he said. "I feel like I've gotten a second chance. I have to say that I'm more cautious and a better flyer for it."

Volunteers now sought for State Fair

Volunteers are being sought to staff information booths and other activities at this year's Illinois State Fair. "This program is very beneficial in providing information to fairgoers," said State Fair Manager Bud Ford. "Some of last year's volunteers have been in contact with us to help out again."

"That's encouraging and lets us know the volunteers enjoyed their experience during the fair."

Volunteers are asked to contribute at least 12 hours over the course of the fair, which runs Aug. 13-22. A training workshop will be held.

Refreshments will be available for volunteers. They may also attend the fair's annual Press Day and will be treated to a recognition banquet.

Workers will staff the fair's three information booths.

Volunteers may also be asked to assist in other areas, including the Barn Tours, Special Events Tent and the Twilight Parade.

Anyone wishing to volunteer or having additional questions should contact Suzanne Moss at (217) 782-0777.

Great Rivers
Byway is celebrated

sentiments of U.S. Rep. John Shimkus, R-Collinsville, who was absent Saturday.

"I think it went really well," said Martha Morse, director of membership for the River Bend Growth Association. "The increased business from tourism should have a very positive impact on the area. The whole package will really have a positive effect." Alton Mayor Don Sandidge commended federal and local efforts leading to the designation. During a speech at the Locks and Dam, he honored John McAdams, the first person to begin working on the Great River Road more than 100 years ago.

"It's because of him we have a River Road," said Mary Ann Warmack, coordinator of the Alton Museum of History and Art.

Sandidge expressed his enthusiasm for the project and his hopes for the future of the River Bend.

"The combination of the byway and the visitors center is going to be a boon to the area," he said. "It's growing so rapidly, and we have so much to offer here."

The Great Rivers National Scenic Byway reaches across the River Bend from the Melvin Price Locks and Dam to Kampsville. The Scenic Byway is one of 53 byways designated by the Clinton Administration.

Also Saturday, first lady Hillary Rodham Clinton and U.S. Secretary of Transportation Rodney E. Slater announced plans to designate the Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail, which will begin in Wood River, as one of 16 Millennium Trails, eligible for a $500,000 grant through the federal government. The trail stretching through Madison County commemorates the Lewis and Clark Expedition in 1803 and 1804, which began the nation's westward expansion.

One of the other Millennium Trails is the Mississippi River Trail, which includes a bicycling route running along the Mississippi River. Plans call for the bike trail eventually to stretch from the St. Louis riverfront across the river via the Chain of Rocks Bridge and north to Alton.

Trivia not just about long ago

Current trends, facts also relate to trivia

Trivia

By Kevin Carbery

People sometimes think of trivia as being only about long ago, but this is not correct.

Trivia has to do with anything that is obscure, so current facts are as relevant to the trivia world as are informational tidbits concerning the past.

Knowing that Stan Musial wore the No. 6 on his uniform is something that may come up at a trivia night competition, but it can also be of help to you to know that Mark McGwire wears No. 25 when he steps on the field for the Cardinals. (You don't have to buy a scorecard.)

While being up on all there is to learn about "I Love Lucy" possibly could help you win prizes on a radio program, it also may benefit you to find out about the characters on "Friends" or "King of the Hill." Knowing everything about "Star Trek" is all well and good, but being an authority on "The X-Files" is no less significant. And you never know when a friend will quiz you on "Xena: The Warrior Princess."

It is not easy to keep up with all current trends, stars and issues. Media blitzes for films such as "Star Wars: The Phantom Menace" make it difficult for you not to learn at least something about the film, but plenty of other flicks slip by with little or not fanfare. I enjoyed the movie "Election" as much as anything I have seen this year, yet I wonder how many others have even heard of it.

people often limit their scope of interest to specific time periods. While it probably can't hurt you to memorize every song on every album Elvis Presley ever made, you should also try to learn what performers are topping the charts this year. That is, if you want to be able to do well on "Win Ben Stein's Money."

Media members seem to enjoy asking people on the street what are the names of their members of Congress, only to ridicule those interviewed for not knowing the answer.

For this week's quiz, the topic is current trivia.

1. Who did "Forbes" magazine recently rank as the wealthiest person in the world?

2. Who provides the voice for Tarzan in the Disney film "Tarzan"?

3. Who are the co-hosts of "The Man Show" on Comedy Central on cable television?

4. What performer has been at the top of the Billboard charts with the album "A Place in the Sun"?

5. Who is Russia's new prime minister?

6. Who plays the role of Felicity Shagwell in "Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me"?

7. Who won the women's singles championship at the 1999 French Open tennis tournament?

8. Who is the speaker of the house of the U.S. House of Representatives?

9. Who won the 1999 U.S. Open golf tournament?

10. Who is the star of the syndicated television series "V.I.P."?

ANSWERS: 1. Bill Gates, who is reportedly worth $90 billion. 2. Actor Tony Goldwyn, best known for playing the bad guy in "Ghost." 3. Jimmy Kimmel and Adam Carolla, both comedians from other cable programs who have teamed up for "The Man Show." 4. Tim McGraw. 5. Sergei Stepashin. I will wager that this is the first place where you have ever seen his name in print anywhere near Jimmy Kimmel's. 6. Heather Graham. 7. Steffi Graf. 8. Rep. Dennis Hastert of Illinois. 9. Payne Stewart. 10. Pamela Anderson Lee.

Horoscope

Thursday, July 1
CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Unless absolutely necessary, don't borrow funds in order to get what you want today. The strings attached which will come into play later might be more undesirable than you thought.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Linking up with cold, unfeeling cohorts today could make any project in which you're involved turn out to be a bummer. Associate only with those you feel comfortable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 If you must, force yourself to attend to all of your duties and responsibilities first today. Anything you leave undone will weigh heavily on your mind and spoil the rest of the day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Little of value will come of catering to persons you don't appreciate. You're better off passing up any such arrangement, no matter what rewards you think are in it for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 Airing differences between you and your spouse in public today could put outsiders in the awkward position of having to arbitrate your disagreement.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
 It's unlikely you to treat persons in subordinate roles unreasonably, but today you could be inclined to do just that. You won't like yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Someone you know quite well may attempt to manipulate you in order to gain some kind of advantage.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 If you continue to fail to detach yourself from a situation that has been standing in your way for some time, your progress will be nil. Sever this link once and for all.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 Negative thinking could have you viewing a matter with which you have to deal today as very disagreeable. In reality, it isn't really that bad.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 Be discriminating with whom you team up today, because there are indications that an ill-conceived involvement with another could end up costing you either financially or emotionally.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 How you conduct yourself and the procedures you choose to put into play will not go unnoticed by others today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 A mistake similar to one you made in the past could be made again today unless you're careful. If you haven't learned that lesson from experience, you're destined to repeat it.

'Big Daddy' knocks off 'Austin'

Adam Sandler film tops weekend box office

Adam Sandler is back on top again.

The funnyman's "Big Daddy" debut knocked off both Austin Powers and Tarzan to lead the weekend box office with $41.2 million in ticket sales, estimates showed.

The animated version of "Tarzan" moved to No. 2 with $23.5 million. "Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me," dropped to the No. 3 spot with $18.5 million in sales, according to industry estimates released Sunday.

This past weekend could become one of the biggest non-holiday weekends ever, said Paul Dergarabedian, a film industry analyst with Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc. The top 12 films were up about 1 percent over last weekend's banner showing.

"There are a lot of big films out there and the audience is expanding," Dergarabedian said. "We're seeing astronomical numbers. There are films out there for every type of audience, combined with very effective marketing campaigns means very big numbers for all the films."

This also means that staying No. 1 is difficult, he said. Each week, the top film is knocked off but the No. 2 and No. 3 films were still doing well.

In "Big Daddy," Sandler plays a 32-year-old New York City tollbooth worker who's forced to grow up when he suddenly must care for a 5-year-old orphan.

As a new father, Sandler combines his two film personas — the juvenile clown of the massive hit "The Waterboy," and the likable romantic of "The Wedding Singer."

"Big Daddy" was the second largest grossing comedy opening ever, just behind "Austin Powers," which opened with $54 million two weeks ago, and was the biggest nonsequel comedy opening ever, Dergarabedian said. "Tarzan," featuring the voices of Mini Driver, Rosie O'Donnell and Tony Goldwyn, and songs by Phil Collins, dropped only 31 percent from its debut last weekend, said Chuck Viane, president of distribution of Buena Vista pictures.

'Instinct' has good scenes, but movie makes no sense

By Brian Kaller
Staff writer

As the film opens, we see a hairy, gray-haired man (Anthony Hopkins) in a Rwandan jail, where he has sat silently for the last year.

MOVIE REVIEW

African guards let him out to take him back to the American authorities, and place him in a van just out of reach of barking, vicious Doberman pinschers. (Why? It's never explained.) But when the guards rendezvous with the U.S. officials, they open the van and find the Dobermans at his feet, being petted tamely.

Hopkins is Dr. Ethan Powell, an anthropologist who left his position and family long ago to study the endangered mountain gorillas. But he had vanished for years, until he was accused of killing two men and brought to justice. Upon his return, Hopkins appears to be a mute savage, and is placed in a mental institution.

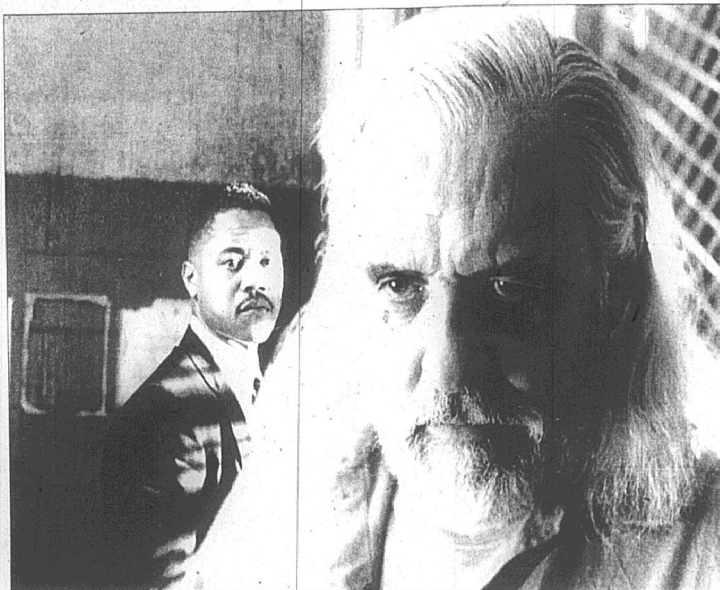

Meanwhile, Theo Caulder (Cuba Gooding, Jr.) an ambitious young psychiatrist, sees the former professor's case as his ticket to stardom, and lobbies to study Hopkins.

After numerous clashes with wardens and other, more jaded doctors at the institution, Caulder finally gets Powell to speak, and to tell his story. We learn that Powell had lived so closely with the peaceful gorillas that he had essentially been adopted as one of them, until encounters with poachers drove him to murder.

Try to follow the film's logic: 1.) Gorillas are peaceful, nonviolent beings. 2.) Hopkins learns to live and think like the gorillas. 3.) He becomes brutally violent.

The advertisements and trailers for this movie focus on Hopkins as a dangerous but brilliant psychotic, with the tag line, "Enter the mind of a killer." These ads try to lure the unsuspecting by making "Instinct" look like the long-awaited sequel to "The Silence of the Lambs," when it is actually a largely unsuccessful pastiche of "Gorillas in the Mist" and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

Cuba Gooding Jr. and Anthony Hopkins in a scene from the Buena Vista Pictures release, "Instinct."

There is good material here, and the seeds of two or three good movies. Mountain gorillas are similar to us, and they are becoming extinct. A movie about this species, or the people who study and try save them, could find many ways to be good. But Hopkins' long flashbacks of life among the gorilla give us little insight into their behavior or his, and we simply must take his word that they are fascinating.

Similarly, the scenes between Caulder, his patients and the authoritarian wardens are also interesting. The filmmakers could have made a good movie around this subject and dropped Hopkins' character altogether — but no, these scenes are only filler.

In addition to the dubious logic of the premise, the movie fails to explain:

- How a 60-year-old professor can throw armed guards around and beat up 300-pound psychotics;
- How living with gorillas gives one the ability to telepathically tame Dobermans;

• Why Caulder would work so hard to free Powell, a character with a habit of hospitalizing everyone he meets;

• How a wild-looking prison escapee can walk from California to Rwanda.

In short, the interesting scenes in "Instinct" are scattered amid a movie that makes little sense from the beginning and less as it goes along.
